

Homepage for Glen Stampoultzis

by Glen Stampoultzis

1. Home Page

This is the home page for Glen Stampoultzis. I'm a Java contractor and director of TriNexus Pty. Ltd.

I have been involved in commercial software development for close to 10 years now. I am a Sun Certified Software Programmer and Developer.

In my spare time I like to work on open source software. Here are some of the projects I have been involved with:

Project	Contribution
Jakarta Project Management Committee	Committee Member.
Jakarta POI	Committer to many area's of the POI project.
Krysalis Community Project	Member of the Krysalis project management committee.
Krysalis Impus	Founder of project.
Krysalis Centipede	Testing and feedback.
Mock Maker	Contributed patch for testing of mock exceptions.
Precondition Plugin	Contributed patch that allowed the user of exceptions instead of assertions.

Be sure to visit my weblog.

If you'd like a copy of my resume please contact me (you'll need to 'despam' the address).

2. My Company

TriNexus is a small consultancy and product development company specializing in Java software development and agile methodologies.

Visiting developers may wish to view the resources section which contains many links that may be of interest.

3. Writings

As well as my weblog I have written a couple of short articles that may be of interest.

- 25 Reason's I Love Using IntelliJ Idea
- Refactoring Example

4. About This Site

This page was generated using Apache Forrest which is a rather nice site creation tool based on Cocoon. Only down side is that it's a bit slow to generate the static site. Hopefully they'll work on that in future versions.

It's main advantage is allows my to concentrate on the content of the site with little regard to how the final result is rendered. The pdf's are generated automatically and are "skin" of the site can be changed by altering just a single line.