White Wine

Riesling

Rieslings are typically light to medium bodied, providing an intensity of flavour to the middle palate. They are often described as having a 'steely' or 'mineraly' mouthfeel. A younger Riesling is usually high in acidity and can display floral, aromatic, citrus or tropical like characteristics. With age, Rieslings can develop lanolin like texture and display complex flavours such as toast, honey and cedar.

Pikes, Clare Valley, S.A. 2008	12.0%	45.00

Chenin Blanc

This grape variety produces crisp, flavoursome wines. They can be described as having herbaceous, herbal grassy, floral, apple, tropical fruit, almond, marzipan and honey characteristics.

Coriole McLaren Vale, SA 2008	13.0%	40.00
Amberley "Chimney Brush," Margaret River, W.A. 2008	13.0%	40.00

Verdelho

Verdelho is a generously flavoured style that is most often reminiscent of tropical fruits and balanced with crisp acidity. Verdelho is generally picked at the latter stages of maturity and therefore tends to exhibit some sweetness on the palate.

Houghtons Late Picked, Swan Valley, W.A. 2008	12.5%	36.00
Lamont's Swan Valley, W.A. 2008	13.0%	45.00

Viognier

Viognier's true varietal character often exhibits apricots, spice, floral and citrus hints and a luscious texture and perfume. Typically the mouth feel is soft and some wines can appear oily. Another feature is their textured nature and refreshing acid finish.

Stonehaven, Hidden Sea, S.A. 2006	13.5%	40.00
Hewitson Lu Lu, Vic 2006	13.5%	45.00
Millbrook, Jarrahdale, W.A. 2007	14.0%	45.00

Pinot Gris

Pinot Gris is a white variety traditionally grown in the Alsace region of France or in Italy where it is known as Pinot Grigio. This wine is typically crisp and steely with spicy, citrus aroma's and makes a refreshing change from the richness of chardonnay.

Tim Adams, Clare Valley, S.A. 2008	12.5%	40.00

Seresin, Marlborough, N.Z. 2006	14.5%	75.00

Gewurztraminer

Gewurztraminer is a variety that grows best in cooler climates and has a high sugar content. Gewurztraminer is normally an off-dry wine, but can be sweet and the aromas are dried roses, passion fruit, and lychees. The rich pink color of the grape produces light to dark yellow to coppery hues of wine.

Pewsey Vale, Eden Valley, S.A. 2008	13.5%	50.00
Lucien Albrecht, Alsace, France 2006	13.0%	70.00

Sauvignon Blanc

Sauvignon Blanc is a typically light to medium bodied style. It is best described as lively and zesty. Sauvignon Blanc can express acidity and herbaceous characteristics in leaner styles. Whereas the fuller styles show more weight in the middle palate and a greater expression of grassy, gooseberry-like characters.

Chardonnay

Chardonnay is considered to be a pliable style that provides avenue for winemakers to fully extend their winemaking skills. These wines will often range from medium to full-bodied. Chardonnay from cooler climates exhibits apple, quince, grapefruit and lime characters and those from warmer conditions display peach and tropical fruit like tones.

Unoaked Chardonnay is generally medium bodied allowing the varietal fruit characters to emerge, finishing fresh and crisp on the palate. Oaked Chardonnay ranges from medium to full-bodied exhibiting plenty of fresh melon and peach flavours which are often complemented by vanilla and toasty oak tones derived from time in barrel and malo-lactic fermentation.

Semillon

Semillon is a complex and varied style, the flavour of which depends largely on how it is made. Winemakers will use techniques such as barrel fermentation, time on lees and malo-lactic fermentation to add complexity and texture to these wines. In general, Semillon styles will range from medium to full-bodied and often have a crisp and fresh finish.

Rosé

Rosé is made from the free run juice of red grapes, usually Cabernet or Grenache. The juice only spends a short time in contact with the skins, therefore exhibiting a slight pink colour. Generally dry, this wine boasts fantastic summer drinking as an apéritif or with white meats.

Red Wine

Shiraz

Varietally speaking, Shiraz displays an abundance of flavours, a perceived sweetness and plenty of tannins. Wines, which are higher in alcohol, will also tend to impart a spicy hot feeling in the back of the mouth. When grown in different climates, Shiraz can often have marked differences in its overall flavour, body and characteristics. Generally in a cooler climate Shiraz will impart more peppery and spicy characters, they are finely structured wines with velvety, dusty and powdery mouth feel sensations. In warmer regions Shiraz tends to be fuller bodied, with mouth puckering tannins and packed with flavours, which include plum, chocolate, spice, liquorice, blueberry and blackberry.

Merlot

Typically, Merlot produces medium bodied wine, soft, with simple tannins, fresh acidity, showing berry, plum and fruitcake characters. It appears to grow best in cooler climates, where it develops stronger fruit flavours such as blackberry, mulberry and cassis, and evolves with firm tannins. However wines from warmer climates tend to exhibit more cherry and plum like flavours and have a round, soft mouth feel.

Cabernet Sauvignon

As the most ubiquitous red grape variety in the world, Cabernet Sauvignon is regarded by many winemakers as the most noble offering them an opportunity to express their artistry in creating the flavour profile and structure of the wine. Grown in cooler climates these wines often display herbaceous and vegetal characters, in contrast, warmer climates produce wines exhibiting minty, berry and blackcurrant flavours.

Young wines will often display firm tannins, creating a drying sensation in the mouth. With age these tannins become more subtle and create a fine grainy or powdery feeling.

Grenache

Grenache is the world's most widely planted grape used to make red wine, sometimes made into a stand-alone varietal, frequently as a rosé, but most often as a backbone of red blends. On its own, Grenache makes fleshy, heady, very fruity wines in its youth, with bottle age however it can develop tobacco, dried apricot and cigar box characters. Nose and mouth feel will vary markedly depending on the style.

Tempranillo

Tempranillo is the premium red wine grape variety from the Rioja region in Spain. But now in many Australian Wine regions from the King Valley to McLaren Vale and the Barossa to Margaret River, this variety is now challenging Sangiovese as the up and coming star of the red varietal wine scene in Australia.

Sangiovese and Barbera

Both these varieties are relatively new to Australia however they are gaining popularity quickly. The flavor profile of Sangiovese is fruity, with moderate to high natural acidity and generally a medium-body ranging from firm and elegant to assertive and robust.

Barbera is an ancient variety with its historical roots in Italy, where today it remains the second most widely planted red variety, after Sangiovese. The highest quality Barberas come from the Piedmont region
